

Allow me to introduce myself. My name is Jaroslav Dřevo. Me and my wife bought our first dog in 1974 – German Shephard – and dogs are a big hobby ever since then.

Right now we have a Weimaraner Sarah and German Shepherd Cora.

I have acted as a figurant in training center since 1975 and later as a trainer. From this, I gained a lot of experience, which I use in my work with dogs, particularly in the last few years when I am concentrating on educating and training dogs of different breeds professionally. I am interested more and more in ethology of dogs (seminars, technical papers). I wrote a guide-book about the issues of dog training and elimination of undesirable behaviour.

We made our life-long dream come true in the summer of 2008 when we opened a small dog hotel.
